

Non-Degree Seeking Status

Each non-degree seeking student admitted to Idaho State University will declare himself/herself as such by selecting the non-degree seeking application for admission. These students are limited to 7 credits a semester and do not qualify for financial aid.

A non-degree seeking student may change their status to that of a degree-seeking student by complying with admissions criteria for degree-seeking - students (detailed in the Undergraduate Admission (<https://coursecat.isu.edu/undergraduate/undergraduateadmission/>) section of this catalog).
